ALLIES HAVE GERMANS ON THE RUN DRIVING THEM BACK 37 TO 47 MILES

Left Wing of Kaiser's Army is Beaten Back and Enormous Forces on Right Fail to Gain.

NO ADVANCE SINCE SEPT. 6

Flat Statement Made That Germans Are Not Advancing at Any Point. Along Battle Line.

IS FAR FROM BEING DECISIVE

Announcement Causes Rejoicing Because it Was Feared Center Was in Danger Today.

(By United Press.)

Paris, Sept. 11.—“The Franco-English advance continues with dogged persistence. The offensive operations are of the most effective character. The British marksmanship is deadly and is proving wonderfully effective,” was an official statement issued today.

For the first time today the flat statement was made officially that at no point on the line were the Germans advancing. This caused great rejoicing for it had been believed the war office was withholding bad news regarding the French center.

The Germans have been hurled back 50 to 75 kilometers (37 to 47 miles) on the French left while the supreme efforts of the enormous German forces on the right have failed. The Germans have been unable to advance a single yard since September 6, the statement said.

The battle is still far from being decisive.

General Gallieni announced today that the British-French offensive movement on the North continues unchecked. The Germans continue to retreat in the face of a superior force, the French troops having been reinforced from the army of defense of Paris.

The military governor, however, added nothing to the details made public at midnight at Bordeaux. His statement, issued at 10:30 was in effect a duplication of that declaration. It merely stated that the French and British are now well across the Marne and are pressing the retreating Germans hard, meanwhile taking many prisoners and guns.

The battle in the centre continues without definite result and according to General Gallieni both sides are constantly receiving reinforcements.

German reinforcements are being hurled in enormous number to the center of the present battle field. Reports from the front emphasize that the critical position so far as the allies are concerned in the territory in the vicinity of Vitry-Le-Francois through Cenicourt almost to Verdun.

The British-French left continues to sweep the Germans back north of the Marne. They have shortened their lines pending the arrival of reinforcements but the British attack continues with almost uninterrupted success. If the French finally crush the attack at the centre of the present British movement will be successful as it will clear all western France of the Germans. But if the centre breaks the German menace will immediately become great.

That the Germans have no intention of retreating under present circumstances is shown by the official reports received by General Gallieni

PREPARING FOR GERMAN ATTACK

Russian Forces Retire on Defensive Positions and Great Battle Impends.

GERMANS RUSH TO PRUSSIA

Not Less Than Five of Kaiser's Army Corps Arrive Stop Russian Invasion

(By United Press.)

Petrograd, Sept. 11.—The Russian forces in east Prussia are retiring on a new defensive position to meet an attack by a large German army which has just arrived from the west. This force is reported here to be made up of several German army corps withdrawn from the French front and more than 200,000 members of the second line. They are heavily supported with artillery and it is believed here that the great Eastern German fortresses have been denuded of their fighting forces to increase the forces in a general assault on the Russian columns. The Russians are retiring slowly to positions previously selected and the war office states that a great battle is impending.

The Russian advance guard, made up chiefly of cavalry, finding the Germans in great force in the Lake Mauer region, has withdrawn on the main column. It is stated that Russian reinforcements have been sent forward and that the Russian right army is to be strengthened immediately. It is declared this movement will in no way interfere with the campaign against the Austrians which is being pressed with a great battle now in progress in Galicia.

The Austrians have been very strongly reinforced by the Germans is admitted. There are reported to be not less than five army corps of first line German troops now fighting with the Austrians along a battle line that extends from Tomaszow, almost on the Russian-Poland-Austrian frontier, southward in an irregular line through Rawa Ruska, then west of Lemberg to the Dnieper river country. This force, which has been on the defensive after the decisive defeats at Lemberg and Rawa Ruska, has been re-organized by the German general officers and the fighting, according to the general staff, is developing rapidly into another desperate battle.

While this battle is in progress the Russian troops invading East Prussia have also engaged the enemy all along the line. Here too, the Germans have been heavily reinforced and they have an enormous amount

(By United Press.)

Antwerp, Sept. 11.—The war office announced today that there was general evidence of evacuation of western Belgium by the Germans. The war office believes it will be possible very soon to reoccupy Brussels.

(By United Press.)

London, Sept. 11.—The war office this afternoon for the first time declared that the Germans in France are showing signs of demoralization. As a result the British are reported as taking many prisoners who have been unable to keep up with the main line of retreat and who are found hiding and along the river banks. The text of the announcement at 3:30 this afternoon follows:

“The German retreat is general and continuous. The British-French Columns are pursuing vigorously. On Thursday one thousand, five hundred prisoners, several guns and a large quantity of transports were taken. The enemy is retreating very rapidly east from Soissons and there are evidence of some disorder.

“Considerable bodies of the enemy are being found hiding in the woods where they have taken refuge when they found it impossible to keep up

BREACH OF PROMISE CASE IS DISMISSED

Suit Brought by Miss Anna B. Stites of Near Charlottesville Against Carthage Druggist.

PLAINTIFF PAYS COSTS

The sensational breach of promise suit brought by Miss Anna B. Stites, of near Charlottesville, against Samuel M. Denton, a Carthage druggist, was dismissed this morning in the circuit court by Miss Stites and the costs paid. The motion to dismiss was filed in writing and it was agreed that the plaintiff should pay the costs. The case was the first of its kind filed in the local court for some time and attracted considerable attention. Miss Stites demanded $5,000 damages from Denton, alleging that he promised to marry her, and that when he did not, she suffered great mental agony. According to the complaint, they had the date of the wedding set but that he did not keep his promise.

It was quiet in court today as there were no cases set for trial. The jury is called for Monday of next week.

L. B. SMELSER GOES TO LEBANON

Rushville High School Instructor and Chamber of Commerce Secretary Leaves.

ELECTED PRINCIPAL THERE

Goes to Lebanon at Increase in Salary and Gets Executive Position—Word Last Night.

L. B. Smelser today resigned as instructor in the Rushville high school and as secretary of the Rush County Chamber of Commerce and accepted a position as principal of the Lebanon high school. His resignation was a surprise to both the school board and the executive committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

The school board is negotiating with several candidates for Mr. Smelser's position in the high school and it is all together probable that one will be employed in the next few days. In order that there is no vacancy in the high school faculty, a teacher will have to be employed by next Monday as school opens then.

The members of the executive committee of the Chamber of Commerce were notified in person this morning by Mr. Smelser as there was no time to call a meeting. He left this morning for Lebanon. The executive committee will hold a meeting in a few days to elect a new secretary.

As well as being a surprise to the school board and Chamber of Commerce, the sudden change by Mr. Smelser was somewhat of surprise to himself because he did not know that he had been elected principal of the high school until last night when he received word by telephone. The Lebanon schools opened last Monday and Mr. Smelser will take up his duties there immediately.

Mr. Smelser's new position carries with it a salary of $1,200 a year. This is an increase of $300 on the year over what he was receiving here. Although the school board and high school faculty regretted to see him leave, they were pleased that he received such a promotion.

The school board released Mr. Smelser from his contract. He had already been granted an increase in salary to remain here this year. Last Monday night he was called by telephone and asked to come to Lebanon for an interview with the school board. He went Tuesday morning, but returned with the belief that he would not be elected.

Mr. Smelser has had offers two or three summers of positions on the Lebanon high school faculty, but he never before was offered the principalship. Heretofore the offers always came so late in the summer that he could not accept. The former principal of the Lebanon high school received an offer from an Ohio city at a big advance in salary and he was released from his contract with the Lebanon board last Monday. This accounts for the lateness of the offer to Mr. Smelser.

Mr. Smelser has been here three and a half years. He is a graduate of Earlham college. He taught school for a time and then went to the Philippines where he taught school. Returning to the United States, he was employed in the schools here. Most of his classes here were senior pupils. He taught mathematics, history, chemistry, public speaking and coached the high school athletic teams.

It was Mr. Smelser's work in public speaking which attracted the attention of the Lebanon school board

REPUBLICANS TO GO IN A SPECIAL

Arrangements Are Being Made to Send Big Delegation to Indianapolis Next Thursday.

SENATOR BORAH TO SPEAK

Fifty Tickets at Rate of $1.20 Round Trip Must be Sold to Get Interurban.

Republicans of Rush county today began planning to send a big delegation to the big Republican meeting which will be held in Indianapolis next Thursday evening, September 17, when Senator Borah and Hugh Th. Miller of Columbus, Ind., Republican nominee for United States senator from Indiana, will speak.

A special car will be run over the Indianapolis & Cincinnati Traction line providing fifty tickets can be sold. The county committee has to guarantee fifty tickets at a cut rate of $1.20 the round trip in order to obtain a special car.

If arrangements are completed for the car, it will leave here next Thursday evening at five-thirty o'clock and the return car will leave Indianapolis at eleven o'clock. Tickets may be purchased now either of A. L. Riggs, county chairman, or at Hargrove & Mullin's drug store.

The Republican state committee is advertising the coming meeting as the biggest political gathering in years and there is no doubt but that it will be. Information as to the character of the meeting has been sent to county chairmen throughout the state and responses are coming into state headquarters constantly from many counties that big delegations from the far corners of the state will attend.

Rush county is especially anxious to send up a big delegation and help swell the crowd. Every Republican approached today said he would go and indications are that it will not be many days before the required number of tickets to get the special car are sold. The county chairman is sending out personal letters to the party workers in all of the townships urging them to tell the Republicans about the meeting and get as many as possible to go.

The speaking will be held in Tomlinson hall, Indianapolis, at eight o'clock next Thursday evening. It will be the only speech Senator Borah will make in the state this campaign and for that reason many Republicans are especially anxious to attend this meet. Senator Borah is a big figure nationally. He is a probable candidate for the Republican nomination for president in 1916.

The state committee is planning to make the meeting a rousing one. Plans already made call for a big parade which will start from the Marion club in Meridian street just across from the federal building at seven o'clock, an hour previous to the meeting. There will be brass bands and red fire galore. The state committee plans to make of this celebration a good, old-fashioned Republican meeting.

The Epworth League of the Gowdy church will give a literary program Saturday evening, September 19.

The Carthage schools, which opened Monday have a total enrollment of 277, which is a gain of 77 over last year. The enrollment in the high school is 65 an increase of 14. There are twenty-five at the colored school, being a decrease of four.

LIVE IN FEAR OF A BOMB ATTACK

Admitted in Berlin Kaiser and General Staff Expect Warfare of This Sort Soon.

ATTEMPTS AT LUXEMBURG

War Office Asserts Germans Are Assuming the Offensive in East Against Prussia.

(By United Press.) Berlin, Via The Hague, Sept. 11.—It was admitted here today that the kaiser and the German general staff have been in danger from a Belgian-French bomb attack by aviators.

They are directing the general campaign against France from the German legation in Luxembourg, capital of the grand duchy of Luxembourg. This was known to the French and Belgians and a few nights ago it is admitted Belgian and French aviators flew over the city and attempted to drop bombs on the legation building. Four bombs fell near it but it is stated they did no damage.

In order to forestall another attempt, however, searchlights have been mounted and aviators are constantly on watch.

The kaiser is personally directing the general offense against the French. Field telegraph lines have been constructed from the legation building in Luxembourg directly to the front. Every move made is reported at once. Occasionally the kaiser and the general staff in their automobiles, make personal examinations of the advanced positions, although the emperor has not as yet gone to the actual firing line.

The situation in Berlin is unchanged. It was admitted in the official bulletins published last night that the German right wing had been compelled to retire in the face of an overwhelming and superior force of French and English. At all other points, however, it is stated the German attack continues with important successes reported.

The situation in the east is reported improving. German first line troops are now attacking the Russians, who have been unable to advance their lines at any point on Prussian territory. In addition reinforcements have been sent to the aid of the Austrians who have assumed the offensive in the territory north of Lemberg.

The German troops now hold the Mazur Lake region and have routed the Russian advance columns that have been operating in this vicinity. Everywhere in the east it is stated the German armies are now assuming the offensive. There has been no attempt to withdraw on the fortified positions as up to the present it has been possible to hold the Russian advance in the open. Should the Czar's forces become overwhelming, however, the army will withdraw to the first line of fortifications which it is stated, can hold out indefinitely.

Suffering of French Reservists Revealed

(By United Press.) Paris (by mail to New York), Sept. 11.—Stories of the French army on the march reaching here to of the suffering of the reservists, clerks and office employees unaccustomed to marching to say nothing of carrying a rifle and fighting. On every side are evidences of heroism as they toil along with the army. One writer describing these men on the march declares:

"From the start their features contract; they bend almost double; perspiration breaks out on their foreheads. They try to keep in time but their paces are too short. When a word of encouragement is spoken to them, they have not the strength to reply."

Other French soldiers sing as they march. There is usually one man in a command who has a repertoire of marching songs, popular and sentimental airs, he strikes up the first bar and the others join in. A soldier writing of the march said:

"When we pass through a village the people come out of their doors and look at us gravely and quietly but do not speak. The women, no doubt are thinking of other soldiers and men of their own families. All along the route they place buckets of water mixed with a little wine or rum. We are forbidden to halt and it is not easy to fill a mug and drink without getting out of step. To make it easier the women hold the buckets on their knees so we may fill our mugs as we pass without stopping."

Soldiers Keep Watch Over the Camp Towel

(By United Press.) London, Sept. 11.—Even in the camps on the battle field, the British soldiers are finding some trace of humor. A private writing to a London paper says:

"Last night I saw a recruit apparently on the strictest watch over nothing in particular. But he told me he was guarding the camp towels. 'You see,' said the recruit, 'we have only two towels in this camp. The blooming field gunners over there have only one, so when we hang our towels out to dry, I have to watch 'em.'" of field artillery. Russian reinforcements are being sent forward and it is believed here that the strength of the German defense in this section will soon be broken.

There is intense interest here over the report that the German crown prince, with a good part of the veteran army which captured Longwy and overflowed Northeastern France, are enroute to the east Prussian front. Military experts here believe the report because they say that the crown prince is very familiar with the German eastern defense.

It is also reported that Field Marshal Baron Von Der Clotz who was recently named as governor of the captured Belgian territory has also been ordered to the east. The baron originated the German eastern defenses that are now threatened by the Russian advance. While there is no confirmation here of either move both have been expected. The reports that there have been heavy withdrawals of German troops from the active army in France have been confirmed. Of course, the general staff knows just what troops have been sent against the Russian forces but all information on this line is refused.

Servians Take Semlin From Austrians in as Bloody Battle as Any of the War so Far.

INVADERS ARE IN A PANIC

(By United Press.) Nish, Sept. 11.—The Servian army took Semlin at the point of the bayonet in a battle as bloody as any of the war. As a result the entire Austrian army that was invading Servia is in panic stricken retreat. Thousands of Austrians have been killed and captured. According to the official statement, there were 50,000 Servians in the attacking column, all veterans of the Balkan war and they resorted to cold steel, many not even firing as they rushed madly forward cheering wildly.

REAPING BENEFIT

Among the stirring features of the play is a race between a motor boat and an eight oar shell containing college athletes. The college boys seek to rescue a girl, while those in the motor boat seek to prevent it. There is boating, yachting, camping and hunting. The story is rife with surprising twists; there is a romance, but how it is all going to turn out, keeps one guessing.

Airdome for Beveridge's Opening
Near Terre Haute Tenderloin

Terre Haute, Ind., Sept. 11.—An airdome located close to the border line of Terre Haute's famous "tenderloin" district has been engaged for a speech that is to be delivered by Albert J. Beveridge on Sept. 14th. The word has gone out from the Crawford Fairbanks—Donn Roberts Democratic organization to the denizens of the vice district to turn out in force for this meeting. "We must see to it that this meeting is not a frost" admitted a Democratic machine worker today. "We'll have a lot of our boys there to shout and yell—a lot of those repeaters you have heard so much about. Beveridge is our friend—in fact, he's our Moses this year. We want him to get enough votes to keep the Republicans from beating us."

AUGUST MILLER, Committeeman.

Part of Direct Primary.

Followers of politics have noted the result in the Illinois primaries held this week. They have seen that Roger Sullivan, the big Illinois boss who has been classed undesirable by President Wilson and some other cleansers of the Democratic party, was nominated by a majority nearly a half hundred thousand votes with the very instrument which the demagogues and some high-minded theorists have been foisting off as the tool with which the people man kill off political machines.

There is a note of irony in the fact that the so-called political bosses have profited more by the use of the direct primary system than with the old convention methods. We have seen the same results everywhere. We need but recall the state convention of Indiana Democrats. President Wilson forced on the convention a plank declaring for the direct state-wide primary. Members of the resolutions committee were opposed to the incorporation of that plank, some going so far as to say that the plank sounded the death knell of the Democratic party in Indiana. But the Democratic machine need not worry about the primary plank.

The direct primary, although theoretically it is supposed to express best the will of the people, has proved to be a frost.

The attitude of President Wilson in regard to the nomination of Roger Sullivan is most inconsistent. His stand is that the people of Illinois do not know what they want; that he should be their director and guide. After they have had ample opportunity to register their choice for a nominee at the polls and have selected him by means which the president says is fair, the president decides that they are a brainless lot of people who know not what they want. It is apparent that this is his decision in the light of his statements authorized in Washington yesterday.

He will have none of Roger Sullivan, even though he is the choice of Illinois Democracy for the United States senate. But the people of Illinois, of course, are a hapless lot of imbeciles who do not know what they want or whither they are drifting politically. They need a protector and the president has essayed that roll just as a lot of Demagogues have done in other political parties. The president will keep hands off in the Illinois campaign.

Secretary of State Bryan, another one of the higher critics in politics, will also step aside when it comes to the Illinois campaign. Of course, he has no business in the Illinois campaign, but that's neither here nor there. He thinks he does. The day of political "purifiers" is drawing to a close.

5,000 REGISTER THE FIRST DAY

Political Leaders Are Elated Because Apathy Usually Prevails on Such Occasions.

CITY TO BE RECKONED WITH

Has More Votes Than Any Place in Lake County Which Can Swing the Tenth District.

(By United Press.)

Gary, Ind., Sept. 11.—Five thousand voters are today registered in the city of Gary and political leaders are elated.

General apathy usually prevails on registration days, but with this number of voters registered on the first day, Gary's political strength is something to be reckoned with. With more votes than any other city, Gary swings Lake county; Lake county, with nearly 30,000 votes, holds balance of power in the Tenth district and the Tenth district comes near throwing the weight of one party or the other in the state.

Only eight years ago Gary was nothing to be reckoned within state politics, and its sudden weight has broken up numerous political calculations in the state.

In July, 1906, forty-nine men went to the polls to vote upon the first set of village officers. There was not another voter in the woods and swamps at that time. Three years later, in 1909, when Gary decided to become a city and the first set of officers were to be elected 3,700 went to the polls. At the second city election, held last fall, 6,000 voted and this fall, with issues not half as hot as they were in the city campaign, the registration shows a great gain.

Until this year Gary has not been represented in the county or state government, with the possible exception of an insignificant office doled out by those who saw that some time the new city was going to be a power. In the primaries held in the spring, there were Gary men for nearly every office. Candidates for Sheriff, commissioners, prosecutor and other officers are now on all tickets. Two candidates for state senator and one for representative are striving for the higher offices. Besides this the republicans have the district chairman and recently a Gary man was placed at the head of an active organization of republican edition in the Tenth district.

In short, the state is beginning to sit up and take cognizance of Gary, for at each succeeding election, the votes that Gary has gained since the last accounting is a problem not to be trifled with.

Democrats of Gary have been complaining that they never received a crumb of the state pie and the republicans are in about the same conditions, but the city has been growing so fast that the powers at Indianapolis couldn't keep track.

The ballot this fall, however, is certain to dispel the illusion that Gary "will be," in the future, a political power.

SAYS LEADERS KNOW IT

Former Progressive Declares Bull Moosers Can't Win.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 11.—George Snider, who was one of the most active Progressives in Marion county, former chairman for his ward (the Ninth) in the campaigns of 1912 and 1913, has announced that he is now a Republican and that he is doing everything in his power for the success of the Republican party at the coming election. Mr. Snider says that the only way to save Marion county from being Tammanized by the Bell-City Hall-Crawford-Fairbanks Taggart machine is for the voters of the county to vote the Republican ticket. He says the Progressive party cannot win and that its leaders know it.

which show that they are bringing their "caterpillar" siege guns forward behind their centre.

It is not believed here that the decisive stage can be reached in the present battle for at least three or four more days. There is no doubt that the Germans are filling up the depleted ranks of their active regiments with their reserves. They are also bringing up enormous quantities of ammunition and every piece of artillery that can be spared. While this is going on, the German centre and left are maintaining their positions withstanding the offensive of the French, but making no effort to attack in force.

While the Germans are strengthening their lines, however, the French are doing the same thing. Details are withheld naturally but it will not be surprising if, when the facts now masked behind the censorship screen come to light it is found that General Joffre in the centre also has the support of a British fighting unit of extremely formidable proportions.

YOUNG MEN ARE WELL ORGANIZED

State Chairman Announces Formation of Movement That Will be Factor in Campaign.

DISTRICT CHAIRMEN NAMED

Club Will be Organized in Each County in Indiana—Intelligent and Active Workers.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 11.—An announcement was made to Republican state headquarters in the Hotel Severin today that is expected to cause political opponents of the Republican party to wonder whether they have been “left at the post.” While the activities of other political organizations have been confined to the regular party workers, the Republican organization, in addition to its regular routine work, has been busy for two months perfecting an organization known as the Young Republican Movement. Not until they had their organization perfected did Chairman Hays and Secretary Henley of the Republican State organization permit any publicity regarding the movement to have the first voters of Indiana become actively identified with the regular Republican organization.

According to the announcement today the Young Republican Movement consists of a chairman for each congressional district, a captain for each county and three lieutenants in each township in Indiana. “We did not care to have any publicity about the work we have been doing in this direction,” said Chairman Hays. “We knew that the Republican party was the party of opportunity for young and old and we are of the opinion that it would not be difficult to perfect an organization among the young men throughout the state that would be a power in advancing the interests of the party. The young men have welcomed the opportunity with the result that we now have a hustling army of over ten thousand active young men, ready and anxious to do everything they can to restore Indiana to the care of the Republican party.”

The District chairman of the Young Republican Movement in Indiana are as follows:

- First, Charles Artes, Jr. Evansville.
- Second, Ewing R. Emison, Vincennes.
- Third, Ralph Gresham, Fredericksburg.
- Fourth, Harley H. Hill, Aurora.
- Fifth, Miller Davis, Terre Haute.
- Sixth, Jack Higgins, New Castle.
- Seventh, Claris Adams, Indianapolis.
- Eighth, Arthur E. Gadbury, Muncie.
- Ninth, Marion S. Hufford, Frankfort.
- Tenth, E. G. Sproat, Hammond.
- Eleventh, Allen Messick, Marion.
- Twelfth, James E. Menefee, Ft. Wayne.
- Thirteenth, Daniel D. Shurtz, South Bend.

During the past week the district chairman of the Young Republican Movement were members of the organization squads that toured the various districts of the state.

“Those young fellows are about as intelligent and active as any workers that have helped the Republican party in a generation,” observed a well known Republican who attended organization in several of the districts last week.

In New Castle 300 young men are actively identified with the Young Republican Movement. It is planned to organize a marching club that will make a visit to Wayne county and each county in the Sixth district. The club has a glee club of 25 members that will be heard at Tomlinson Hall in Indianapolis on the evening of Sept. 17th, when Senator Borah opens the Republican campaign. Clubs have also been organized at Spiceland and Lewisville in Henry county. A large club has been organized at Clinton and a number of similar organizations have been made in Huntington county. The district chairmen of the Young Republican Movement have pledged themselves to organize a club in each county in their district, this in addition to their regular organization of three lieutenants in each township in various counties.

CONFERENCE ON “WHITE PLAGUE”

Anti-Tuberculosis Workers Making Great Preparations for Meeting at St. Louis in October

IN NATURE OF ROUND TABLE

Problem of Careless Consumptive and Value of Tag Days Will be Among Things Discussed

In all sections of the Mississippi Valley and particularly in Indiana, anti-tuberculosis workers are hoping for a great conference on “The White Plague” at St. Louis, October 6, 7 and 8.

The preliminary program for the three days session indicates that the conference will, in more ways than one, take on the nature of a “round table” at which the men and women in the “trenches” will meet on common ground to talk over problems of their everyday life. The problem of the “careless consumptive” who endangers the health of everyone with whom he comes in contact, the value of “tag days”, the rural nursing problem, the education of the children concerning tuberculosis prevention, clinic and sanatorium treatment, the necessity for registration of consumptives as is done in other infectious diseases, whether or not the consumptives should be quarantined as is now done with victims of small-pox, and many other topics of interest to every citizen as well as to anti-tuberculosis workers in particular, will be discussed. Whether a house which shelters a consumptive should be placarded as is now done in small-pox diphtheria, typhoid, measles and other diseases, not nearly so deadly as tuberculosis, is not the least important of the subjects on the program.

In Indiana, the result of this conference will have a great deal to do with the pressing of legislation that is believed to be needed if this state is to take drastic and immediate steps to control this plague which in 1913 wiped out the lives of 4,108 of our neighbors. The sixty odd anti-tuberculosis societies in Indiana should send ample representation to St. Louis and use every endeavor to bring the 1915 conference to this state. The importance of such a gathering of crusaders against the “white plague”, coming as they do from more than twenty states, would no doubt, be reflected in an increased interest by the laity in this great campaign for the common good.

VIVID STORY OF A BATTLE

Wounded Frenchmen in Hospital
Gives Graphic Description of Conflict in a Letter

GERMANS ARE BAD SHOTS

Whenever a Shell Was Fired Soldiers
Looked to See Where it Fell as Uninterested Spectators

(By United Press.)

London, (by Mail to New York) Sept. 11.—One of the most vivid stories of fighting that has been received during the war, has reached here in a letter from a wounded Frenchman to a friend in London.

"I am in the field hospital now with a nice little hole in my left shoulder," the wounded man wrote, "My shoulder feels much as if some playful joker had touched it with a lighted cigar."

Describing the fight in which he was wounded, the Frenchman wrote:

"Since sometime the rattling of volleys is audible. Then at a distance a heavy detonation of a gun is heard. Arrived at the crest we drop ourselves, and there, right in front of us, on the opposite hills, and making for the plain between them, are the enemy, engaged in a fight with a division of the allied troops.

"I can distinctly see the German artillerymen moving about the guns the heavy report is re-echoed by the surrounding hills. It is strange but in the face of death and destruction, I catch myself trying to make out where the shell had fallen, as if I am an interested spectator at a rifle competition, I am not the only one. I see many curious faces around me, bearing expressions full of interest, just as if the owners of the respective faces formed the auditorium of a highly entertaining theatrical performance, without having anything to do with the play itself.

"The human mind is a curious and complicated thing. Now that we were shooting at the enemy and often afterwards in the midst of a fierce battle, I heard some remark made or funny expression used which proved that the speaker's thoughts were far from realizing the terrible facts around him. It has nothing to do with the heartlessness or anything like that. I don't know what it is. Perhaps I shall have an opportunity to philosophize on it later.

"Volley after volley we sent in the direction of the enemy. The German shells and bullets passed over our heads. The Germans may be and are, our superiors in executing parade steps, but they are infernally bad shots.

"A rain of hostilities passed over our heads. Instinctively we stooped, although when one hears the bullet it has passed already. It is a queer sensation which comes over us the first time we are met with a hail of bullets. We suddenly feel as if attacked by fever, but this feeling very soon leaves us.

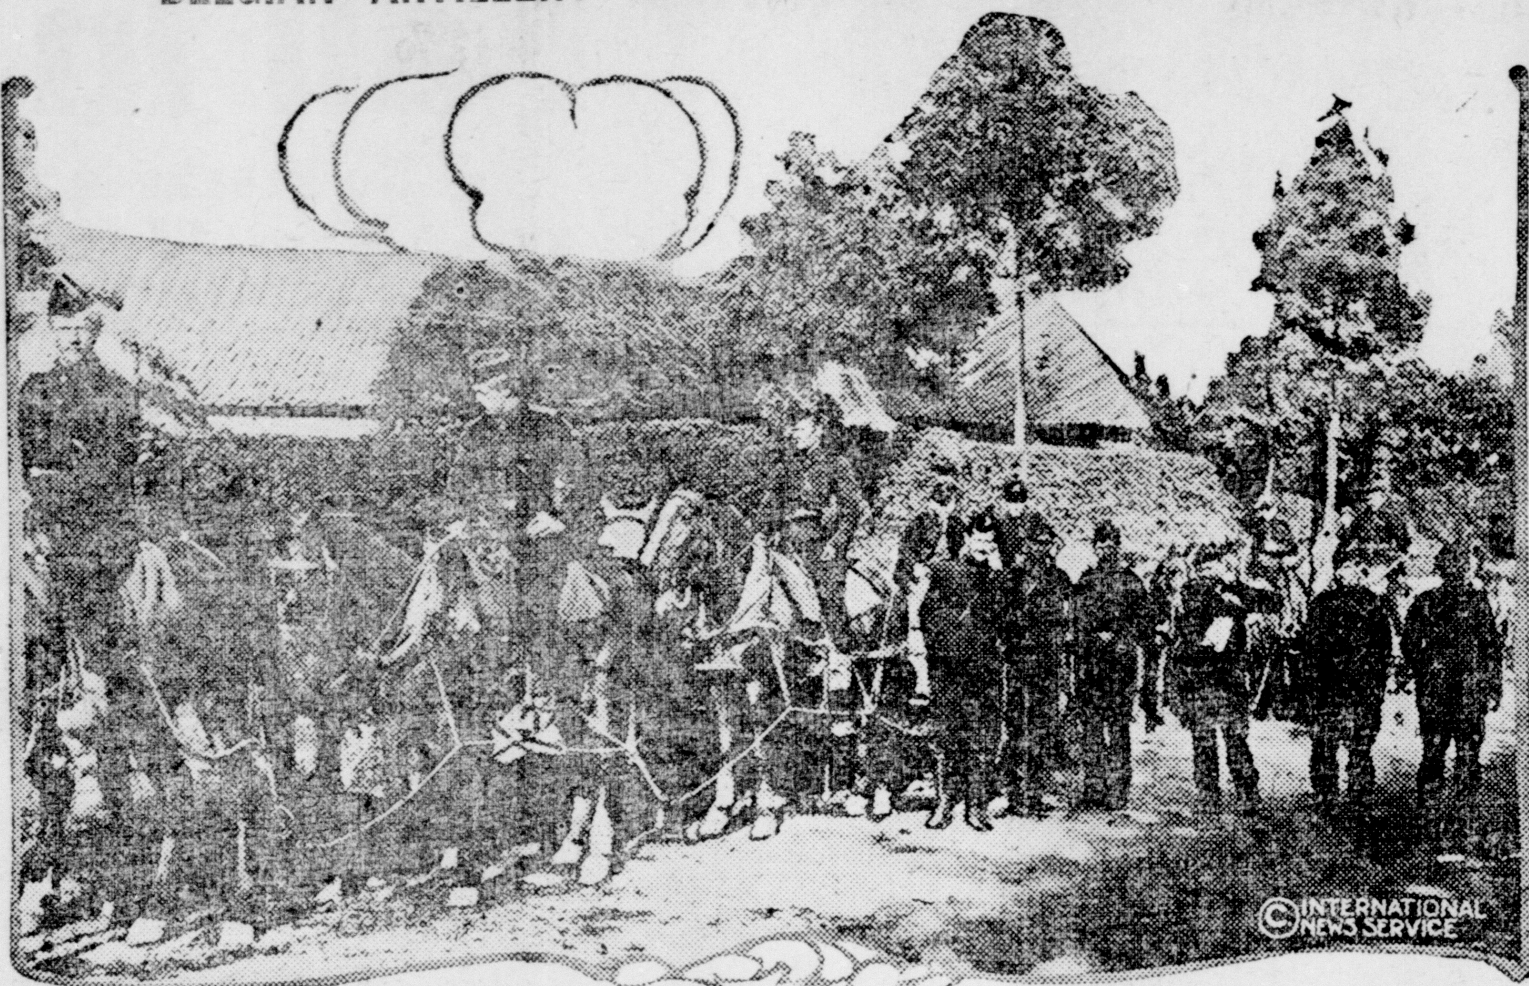

"The earth was shaken by the incessant cannonading, and the air was torn by continuous rattling rifle fire. A comrade on my right stumbled dropped forward without uttering a sound, killed by a shot in the breast. A man in front of me threw his arms up, fell struggled to his feet and fell again.

"A shell exploded near us, followed by a terrible cry. Five of us were lying dead in a little square. One man had both legs blown away and was still alive, conscious and imploring us to kill him. An officer ran past stopped, and a short look at the man, shot him through the heart. 'Ca vaut mieux' he said 'Pauvre diable.'

"The officer opened his mouth to utter a command, and at the same moment got a bullet in the mouth. He turned round twice and fell heavily on the dyke close by me.

"At a good distance behind us Red Cross soldiers and Red Cross friars, carrying the Red Cross flag, were stooping over the wounded and removing them to ambulance vans. A

Battered Forts of Liege Tomb For Thousands of Brave Men

BY CARL VON WIEGAND
(By U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

Liege, Sept. 6, via Aix-La-Chapelle and the Hague.—(Delayed by the British Censor)—The battered forts of Liege, for days the admiration of the entire civilized world because of their heroic defense by General Leman, are the tomb of thousands of brave men. Once representing man's greatest ingenuity as a defensive position, they are today great ruins of broken concrete and twisted steel. Deep in the ruins are the bodies of many of the defenders, as few survived the fire of the deadly German siege guns. It is almost impossible to approach them so horrible is the stench from the decomposed bodies of some of the bravest soldiers that ever fought in battle.

Accompanied by Lieut. Commander Cherardi naval attache at Berlin and Surgeon Ohnesorge of Philadelphia, I was today permitted to inspect the ruins of the various forts. Not one survived the terrible rain of explosives from the new 42 centimeter siege guns which are the latest product of the Krupp foundry. That Liege was able to hold out at all was due entirely to the failure of the German commander to have these guns brought from the rear.

The guns were mounted five miles in the rear of the forts. Yet so accurately had the German aviators located the forts that hardly a shot missed. They dropped repeatedly on the twelve foot steel turrets which project only three feet from the ground finally making the immovable and useless.

One shot had gone through ten feet of solid concrete into the subterranean chamber where it had exploded killing 150 men. There is still much ammunition in the magazines of Fort Loncin and Liera although the forts themselves are a mass of ruins.

Fort Lantin presents the most terrible aspect. It is on a high ridge and today looks for all the world like an extinct crater of a volcano. Three of the 42 centimeter shells drove through twelve feet of concrete and earth. When one of them exploded it set off the magazine. Of the entire fort nothing can be seen but a great jagged hole in the ground, 30 feet deep. Huge blocks of cement were thrown a great distance and the chilled steel turrets of the fort are twisted like tin. Parts of the broken bodies of the gallant defenders were recovered and buried but others cannot be reached and lie, decomposing, pinned down by the twisted steel and broken concrete blocks.

GERMANS PUT ON DEFENSIVE

Abandonment of Lunville and Cession of Attack on Nancy Sure Indication of This

Kaiser Can't Depend on Austria to Put up Any Effective Resistance in Campaign

(By United Press.)

New York, Sept. 11.—The Germans are being forced more and more into a defensive position. They are not yet as completely on the defensive as the allies were during the retirement from Belgium, but their right and left wings are approaching that condition.

The reported abandonment of Lunville by the Germans and the cessation of their attack on Nancy indicate the French are shoving back the invaders' left wing, while at the other extreme of the battle line the English are doing the same to the German right.

The German centre is holding its own, but is unable to advance. The centre pivots on Vitry-Le-Francois, eighty miles east of Paris, where the continuation of the heights of the LaFere-Laon-Rheims fortified line terminates. Vitry-Le-Francois is forty-five miles south east of the deserted French entrenched camp at Rheims. It is probable the allies are trying to force back the German right wing to Rheims, in the hope that the kaiser's forces will fall into a second Maubeuge trap. It would be bitter irony for the Germans if any considerable part of their army were compelled to find temporary refuge in one of the deserted French fortified centres and there be forced to surrender. This possibility is not remote, for the present natural direction of retreat of the German right is toward the Rheims-Vitry-LaFrancois line of hills. Any other route would be toward isolation. If the allies succeed in folding up the Germans right along this line, the necessity for a quick retreat toward Luxemburg will be as pressing for the Germans as the retreat toward the Paris basin was necessary for the allies. In this case, the Germans will require as masterful general as Joffre has proven himself to be.

The disaster to the Austrian forces in Galicia is growing daily. It is almost certain that Germany cannot count on the help of effective Austrian persistence to prolong her own campaign.

The Austrian army has crumpled at the first clash, even more quickly than the Germans hoped the French troops would do. That this has been due to extraordinary strategic and tactical ability on the part of Russia, the previous collapse of the first Russian offensive in East Prussia disproves.

Austria's defeats are undoubtedly due to her own inherent weakness as a nation of many races without common ideals and sympathies. The Austrian soldiers now fighting Russia speak a dozen different languages. Yet they are largely commanded by men of the German race and not by officers speaking their own tongues. These soldiers have been taught about one hundred German words of command which they learn just as cavalry troops learn to distinguish bugle calls. Apart from this vocabulary there is no tie between the officers and men. The fighting power of the Austrians, in consequence, is now proving itself to be the lowest on the European continent.

NOW AN UP-TO-DATE PLANT

Presto Changeo! The Milroy telephone system is now entirely new. It took less time to make the change from the old antiquated system to the one yesterday, that it did to write the two words. Everything was in readiness for the move. Operators in the new. No one ever knew when the cable was cut and the miles of telephone lines which were connected to the old switchboard were hooked up to the new exchange. The two exchanges are in the opposite parts of Milroy, but that made no difference. One is on the west side and the other on the east.

Milroy now has one of the most up-to-date telephone plants any place. It is a complete metalie system. A new home for the exchange was completed several weeks ago. It is equipped with living quarters for those who operate the exchange.

Autumn Is Best Season of Year To Select Seed Corn, Says Expert

Autumn is the time to prepare for a profitable corn crop the following season. At this time the seed is most abundant and the very best can be obtained before it has been in any way reduced in vitality. Many let the opportunity pass, expecting to purchase their seed corn in the spring, but the United States Department of Agriculture's specialist in charge of corn investigations advises that the autumn is the best time to select good seed.

The best place for the farmer to obtain seed corn is from fields on his own farm, or in his neighborhood, that were planted with a variety which has generally proved most successful in that locality. Of course, if a community has an experienced and honest corn breeder on whom it may rely, the seed corn may be obtained from him.

The corn breeder who has demonstrated year after year the superiority of his corn will demand a special price for his superior seed. Such corn breeders are improving corn as cattle breeders have improved cattle. He has used special methods that farmers generally have not time to apply. Five dollars a bushel is not too much to pay and will be a profitable bargain for both parties.

By far too many consider seed good simply because it will grow. To be first class, seed must be—

1. Well adapted to the seasonal and soil conditions where it is to be planted.
2. Grown on productive plants of a productive variety.
3. Well matured, and preserved from ripening time till planting time in a manner that will retain its full vigor.

The importance of the three requirements just enumerated has been demonstrated experimentally by the Department's Office of Corn Investigations. The results given briefly, are as follows:

1. For a series of five years, 12 well-bred varieties were tested in 10 Northern States, equivalent lots of seed being used in each State. Varieties that produced most in some states were among the poorest in others.

2. Seed ears taken from the highest yielding rows of ear-to-row breeding plats have repeatedly produced better than seed ears taken from poorer yielding rows. Seed ears from the best producing stalks found in a general field produced more than seed ears taken without considering the productiveness of the parent stalks.

3. Four bushels of ears were divided into two equal parts, one part being well taken care of and the other placed in a barn as corn is ordinarily cribbed. The well-preserved seed gave a yield on poor soil 12 per cent higher than the poorly preserved and 27 per cent higher on fertile soil, notwithstanding the fact that both lots of seed germinated equally well.

At corn-ripening time drop all other business and select an abundance of seed corn. The process is too important to be conducted incidentally while husking. When selecting seed corn give the process your entire attention. Get the very best that is to be had and preserve it well, and your increased yields will return you more profit than any other work you can do on your farm.

The only proper way to select seed corn is from the stalks standing where they grow, as soon as ripe and before the first hard freeze.

As soon as the crop ripens, go through the field with seed-picking bags and husk the ears from the stalks that have produced the most corn without having any special advantages, such as space, moisture, or fertility. Avoid the large ears on stalks standing singly with an unusual amount of space around them. Preference should be given the plants that have produced most heavily in competition with a full stand of less productive plants.

In all localities the inherent tendency of the plant to produce heavily of sound, dry, shelled corn is of most importance.

Late-maturing plants with ears which are heavy because of an excessive amount of sap should be ignored. Sapiness greatly increases the weight and is likely to destroy the quality. In many sections this fact is not sufficiently appreciated.

In the Central and Southern states, all other things being equal, short, thick stalks, are preferable. Short stalks are not so easily blown down and permit thicker planting. Thick stalks are not so easily broken down and in general are more productive than slender ones.

The tendency for corn to produce suckers is hereditary. Other things being equal, seed should be taken from stalks that have no suckers.

The same day seed corn is gathered the husked ears should be put in a dry place where there is free circulation of air, and placed in such a manner that the ears do not touch each other. Good seed is often ruined because it is thought dry enough when gathered and the precaution mentioned is considered unnecessary. Many farmers believe that their autumns are so dry that such care is superfluous. Seed corn in every locality gathered at ripening time will be benefited by drying as suggested. If left in the husk long after ripening it may sprout or mildew during warm, wet weather or become infested with weevils.

The vitality of seed is often reduced by leaving it in a sack or in a pile for even a day after gathering. During warm weather, with some moisture in the cobs and kernels, the ears heat or mildew in a remarkably short time.

The Department of Agriculture has a bulletin that gives in detail the best manner of treatment for corn after it is gathered. The bulletin also describes how seed corn should be stored during the winter and tests of the germination of seed corn. The bulletin may be had free by those who request Farmers' Bulletin, No. 415, on "Seed Corn," from the Department's Division of Publicans, Washington, D. C.

HORSES MAY GO TO ENGLISH CAVALRY

Jerry Klotz of Indianapolis Will be Here Saturday to Buy Animals For That Purpose.

SPECIFICATIONS STRICT

Several Rush county horses may find service in the English cavalry during the present great war in Europe if Jerry Klotz a wellknown horse buyer, is successful in buying the right kind of animals here. Klotz represents an Indianapolis firm that has a contract with the English government to furnish horses and is here trying to locate some horses that will be fit for the service.

He will remain in the city until Saturday and hopes to place several Rush county horses in the English army. Cavalry horses are not very plentiful in Rush county because of the strict specifications and red tape. A horse for cavalry service must be not less than fourteen hands, three inches tall and not over fifteen hands, three inches.

The price offered is said to be limited and it is doubtful if the owner would part with their horses for an amount less than they could get here. The horses are shipped to Montreal, Canada, and thence to England.

Much Better Than Others

Marvelous wheat was sowed on 2½ acres of ground on October 1, last fall, and it grew well. It went through the winter better than the average wheat. In the spring it outgrew all other varieties. The straw averages about 4 feet high, stands up well. I estimate the yield at 30 bushels an acre, which is much better than other varieties of wheat. I am well pleased with the Marvelous wheat, but will sow it earlier this fall.—J. C. Gilbert, Dublin, Ind. For sale by, ONEAL BROS. 151t6.

EFFICIENCY IN THE SETTLEMENT OF AN ESTATE

It is of great moment to every man, when providing for the disposition of his property, that he appoint the most efficient Executor.

In recent years the custom of appointing as Executor an individual, such as a friend or relative, has been rapidly disappearing. Owing to the great change in business and financial methods, requiring the Executor to have a wide knowledge of these affairs, the Trust Company is the ideal Executor or Trustee, since it is not subject to the vicissitudes of individual life or individual judgment.

All Public Buildings in Vienna Are Crowded With Wounded

(By United Press.)

Vienna, via Rome, Sept. 11.—The hospitals, schools, hotels and all public buildings of Vienna are filled to overflowing with an almost incredible number of wounded who are arriving in constantly increasing numbers on special trains from Poland and Galicia. So great is the overflow of wounded from the battle lines where the Russians are reported as everywhere victorious in Galicia, and so insufficient are the accommodations here that thousands of the wounded Austrians are being rushed right on through here to Baden and several surrounding cities.

"SOME SHOES"

At Callaghan Co. Dry Goods Phone 1014

In all departments and classes of business the war is making itself felt. The shoe dealers are one class of merchants who are sure of this. The shoe merchants here have received notices from a number of manufacturers concerning the lessening of the supply. The tenor of the notices has been that shoes ordered for fall shipment will be delivered at the same price so long as the stock lasts, but that a rise in price may be expected in spring godos.

A statement issued in New York yesterday by a committee representing the delegates to a conference of members of the National Boot and Shoe Manufacturers' association, the National Shoe Wholesalers' association and the National Shoe Retailers association says that the scarcity of leather will ultimately make itself felt to the consumer. Due to this, the statement says, the cost of shoes to manufacturer.

"In consequence of the conflict abroad the normal importations of hides and skins has been seriously curtailed," according to the committee's statement, which continues: "This restricts the output of the tanner and limits the supply of material available for the use of the supply of material available for the shoe."

"The embargo on the exportation of chemicals, dyes and other necessary materials has caused an increase in price which must be considered. These conditions, in connection with the well-known and most serious depletion of the herds of this country and Mexico, have caused such a short supply of hides of all classes as to make unavoidable a substantial increase in the cost of leather of every sort."
